Locavore

locavore: n.
a preference for food grown, raised or produced within the local region.

The story of a cheeseboard

Our cheeseboards are handcrafted by skilled artisans in Northern Thailand from the beautiful and durable timber of locally grown Albizia Saman. Known by the Thai people as ‘the Rain Tree’ because of the way its leaves curl up in the rain and at night, this wide-canopied flowering tree is widely planted as a shade tree in tea, coffee, cocoa and vanilla plantations.

The ultimate in sustainable forestry

The timber for Gourmet Pilgrim cheeseboards, grown in sustainable plantations managed by Thai farmers, is harvested by pruning branches from the trees. This in turn encourages strong growth, with trees often reaching 20-30m in height before felling, typically for use in high-end furniture.

Sustainable trade

The Thai craftsmen who make our boards have spent more than 15 years making servingware from the unique timber of ‘the Rain Tree’. The entire process from raw material to finished goods remains in the hands of the local population - a truly sustainable trade partnership.

MAYA SUNNY HONEY

100% raw honey, created by Andrew Wyszynski & his hard working bees in Mudgee NSW. Combining the skills he learnt growing up as the son of Polish beekeepers with a passion for nature's magic - Andrew created a system that allows the bees to build their amazing honeycomb directly in unique glass jars. Each jar is a mini beehive sculpted by 450-500 worker bees, untouched by human hands.

The Gourmet Pilgrim Story

La historia del peregrino gourmet

A unique, inspiring series of cookbooks and culinary travelogues exploring the recipes, food stories, geography and history of some fascinating cultures. When we're trying to be all fancy about it we call these books 'a culinary odyssey'.....

But seriously - these really are something else. We're not into TV chefs, those clichéd 'traditional' recipes, stock images and that whole 'classics-with-a-new-twist' thing. Our passion is for the 'back-street story'. We want to know about what the locals eat at home, the recipes their nonnas taught them to cook, what they buy at the farmers market, their favourite streetfood, the local moonshine, and the stories that lie behind it all.

So we go to the very grass-roots. Our team of professional recipe writers and food journalists travel around each country cooking with housewives, chefs, fishermen and maiden aunts; collecting family recipes and researching the history, politics & climate that have shaped the local cuisine. Meanwhile our travel journalist & photographer get off the beaten track to learn the culture of the place and the stories it has to tell, so they can channel it all for the armchair traveller. Tough job.....

It's all pretty fascinating stuff. Which makes for a unique cooking & reading experience, and a great gift.

But here's what really takes these gifts to the next level:

- Stunning presentation. Each book is packed in a beautifully crafted tin, which makes a sensational gift pack.
- Broad appeal. Food & travel are 2 of the most popular topics in today's society, across all ages & backgrounds.
- Longevity. These gifts won't wilt or be thrown out; so the giver stays front-of-mind. That's return on investment.
- Exclusivity & perceived value. You won't ever find these books in a general bookshop or a department store, because we don't do the whole retail thing. Except on our website - at full retail price. Which is a lot more than you'll be paying. Get the picture?

That's all folks!.....

So that's our range. We like it - and we sure hope you do.

Give it a try. Done right, gifting is a powerful way to strengthen client relationships and generate referrals.

Be smart about it. Here's 2 simple things that will make sure your gifting really counts - and generates a return for you:

- 1) Give your gifts in person whenever possible;
- 2) Always include a handwritten note for the recipient/s.

OK - maybe you don't have that beautiful scripted handwriting that your mum's Aunt Beryl did. But we'll bet that your clients' handwriting isn't exactly perfect either - and a personal, handwritten note is absolutely the most powerful way to prove that you really care & that you don't take any business relationship for granted. Actions speak louder than words. So make it count.

Want to talk this over? Give us a call - we've seen the ins & outs of gifting in business, and we're happy to help.

And what about us? Who are we? We're just pretty average folks really - but we do like things just a little bit diferente. And, after spending most of our lives working in and around the gifts & marketing industries, we figured that we'd make the most of everything that we'd learnt and seen by creating the best gift we could. For posterity, and the sheer fun of it.

It had to be: a) interesting - something with broad appeal for people of all ages & from all walks of life - men, women, blue-blood, blue-collar, mortgagee, retiree, tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor, etc; b) lasting - something that wouldn't wilt, be eaten, get stuffed in a cupboard or become 'old-hat'; c) valuable - something that could be proudly displayed and used at home - not an ornament.

And with absolutely first-rate presentation. 'Dressed-to-kill', as any great gift should be.

So we came up with the Gourmet Pilgrim Series - a rather unique combination of terrific food & armchair travel. It ticked all the boxes - we had our gift-of-the-century project. And it hasn't turned out too bad, with four in the series and a global award to boot.

Each edition takes 2 years & a truckload of cash to create, with some great meals & a little vino along the way.

But us? Well - we still can't cook ☹. Which is why we've got one of the best recipe research and development teams in the food publishing business - we leave it to the experts. We'd love to be great cooks, but it just ain't worked out that way. Which is both funny and tragic - so often when we go out for dinner the hosts stress out thinking that we simply must be great cooks

We're just glad they don't ask us to look after the barbeque!

That still doesn't tell you who we are. Which actually doesn't matter because you've got a meeting in 5 minutes and you simply must order next week's settlement gifts before lunch. So..... we're passionate, creative, world-beater gifting types.

Who can't cook a sausage.

But we really are good at the gifting thing. Give us a call - we're friendly, professional, and full of ideas. Finito!

You'll need our number. It's 1800 444 001.
